

KATHERINE BULOVIC

Production Designer

Katherine Bulovic is about creativity, art and their intersection in the filmmaking process. Following her graduation from the prestigious School of the Art Institute of Chicago, Bulovic specialized in painting, silk-screening and photography while designing restaurant interiors and commercial promotions. A chance to design for magician Lance Burton's Las Vegas production kindled a dormant interest in theatre and film and she attended Columbia College production design program. Katherine has a unique eye for details and the "grand" picture. She excels in period, as well as present day design. Impressed directors most often ask her "How did you know or how did you do that? Producers smile since she gets it done on time and on budget.
